CALL FOR PAPERS

The International Conference on Asian Language Processing (IALP) serves as the premier conference of the Chinese and Oriental Languages Information Processing Society (COLIPS), distinguished by its dedicated emphasis on the study of Asian language processing. As a series of conferences, IALP aims to foster the advancement of science and technology in all facets of Asian language processing. It provides a collaborative platform for researchers across diverse linguistic disciplines to convene, share insights, and explore the latest developments in the field.

IALP 2025 will be jointly organized by Faculty of Computer Science and Information Technology, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS), and Chinese and Oriental Languages Information Processing Society (COLIPS), Singapore.

Paper submissions are invited on substantial, original, and unpublished research in all aspects of Asian Language Processing, including, but not limited to:

A. Speech:

- Spoken language processing
- Spoken language understanding
- Spoken language generation
- Spoken language translation
- Speech recognition and synthesis
- Rich transcription and spoken information retrieval
- Multimodal representations and processing
- Speaker diarization and speech enhancement
- Speaker recognition and anti-spoofing
- Trustworthy speech technology

C. Linguistics:

- Asian language input, output, coding, etc.
- Computational linguistics and mathematical linguistics
- Discourse and pragmatics
- Language learning, teaching, and computer-aided language learning
- Lexical semantics, sentence-level semantics, and textual inference
- Linguistic theories, cognitive modeling, and psycholinguistics
- Phonology, morphology, and word segmentation
- Special hardware and software for Asian language computing

B. Natural Language Processing (NLP):

- Dialogue and interactive systems
- Evaluation methods and user studies
- Information extraction, retrieval, and text mining
- Interpretability and analysis of models for NLP
- Language modeling and statistical methods for NLP
- Machine learning for Natural Language Processing
- Machine translation and multilingual processing
- NLP in vertical domains, such as biomedical, chemical, and legal text
- NLP on noisy unstructured text, such as email, blogs, and SMS
- Natural language applications, tools, and resources
- Question answering
- Sentiment analysis, stylistic analysis, and argument mining
- Tagging, chunking, and parsing
- Text entailment, paraphrasing, generation
- Large language models
- Text and speech resource development

IMPORTANT DATES

Full Paper/Poster Abstract submission Deadline	: 30 April 2025
Notification of Acceptance	: 31 May 2025
Submission of Camera-ready Paper	: 15 June 2025
Registration and Payment Deadline	: 15 June 2025
